

NATURE'S HARMONY Photographic Images by EVA KAHN

April 26 to June 28, 2008

For the past twenty years I have been an avid nature photographer. I have delighted in making images of landscapes, wildlife and the miniature world revealed through close-up photography. I have tried to be at the right place at the right time to take advantage of the golden light of dawn and sunset, patterns, shadows and reflections, clouds and sunshine. Through the use of form and color intensity I have tried to distil the essence of what I was photographing. My goal has been to translate my experience into images whereby the viewer, in turn, could share the wonders nature had to offer.

My search for photographic subjects has taken me far afield. I have been to Arizona and Utah four times to capture the splendor of the Red Rock country, especially in Monument Valley and Canyon de Chelly, and also to photograph the hummingbirds of Madera Canyon. I have photographed the majesty of Colorado, the Canadian Rockies and Glacier National Park and the Fall colors of Maine and Alaska.

My fascination for taking pictures of wildlife remains undiminished. I love to observe wild animals in their natural habitat and be privy to unique moments in their lives. To this end I have been back to East and South Africa five times and to Hudson Bay three times to photograph polar bears. The excitement of capturing images of animal behavior at decisive moments, such as hunting, feeding, mating, resting or otherwise interacting is unforgettable.

My wanderings in nature have taught me an expanded and more observant way of seeing. This, in turn, has heightened my joy, sense of wonder and reverence for life whenever I am able to photograph a flower meadow or a tree in bloom or a hummingbird sipping nectar. My hope is that this excitement will be communicated to you, the viewer, as you peruse these images.
